Letter From the Editors...

Hey Guys,

We're back. And we're horny as fuck, and so are you. And you might be thinking, but "Skidmo", I am but a little naive puritan. How do I do the deed?" Well we're here to tell you, and show you. ;)

Within these scandalous pages hold the answers to the questions you didn't even know you needed. Is anal cum? Will we ever find love? How do I make pooping sexy? Where is my dad? Plus some regular articles like usual.

You may remember from last semester our woman problem: 4/6 of our E-board was indeed of the female gender. But not to worry, our dear Hannah is the only XX left, and she's doing all the heavy lifting on this XXX edition.

But let's not lose sight of the prize here: ~~pussy~~ Satire. And we still want your help. Mondays at 6pm in the Case Center Conference Room we're gonna be pounding the meat of comedy. That's right: we're putting the sexy back in satire. See you there.

Be responsible,

Hannah and Max

Death Star Workers Unionize, Dealing Blow to Empire

By Tom Pahl

NEUTRAL SPACE IN THE ORBIT OF ALDERAAN

—In the light of the Emperor’s new decision to cut stormtrooper wages and remove dental from the Empire’s health care plan, Death Star workers have unionized in a bold new move. They demand railings for the inside of the superlaser, believing it to be “dangerous,” “uncomfortable,” and “completely failing to reach the standard set by IOSHA (Imperial Occupational Safety and Health Administration).”

In addition, after years of complaints throughout the Empire, the new union is also demanding ‘choking insurance,’ after years of misconduct by a higher up who shall remain unnamed went on a series of choking incidents where officers were manhandled. “It’s about bringing the quest for galactic conquest to the modern day. It’s just that simple,” a spokesman for the union said.

The union has also considered pushing Empire higher ups into easy-access zippers for stormtrooper outfits, due to serious bathroom-related malfunctions going back at least six solar cycles. The union has turned down the Emperor’s previous offers of “I am the ultimate power in the universe” and “Peace is not an option for insolent cowards,” and has demanded that stormtroopers be issued blasters with proper sight alignment, as the current models are woefully inaccurate. Darth Vader was unreachable for comment, due to crushing the last hope of the pathetic Rebel scum in Dantooine.

In light of the unjustified invasion of Geonosis, in which claims of Rebel weapons of mass destruction were used to massacre the native population, it is hard not to see why the rank-and-file members of the Empire are craving a bit more out of their domineering tyrannical government.

Ugly Sneakers In, Ugly People Still Out

By Max LoSardo

NEW YORK, NY — Disrupting the fashion landscape, ugly sneakers have made their way into popular culture, still unlike ugly people. Despite increasing sales for oversized and obnoxiously colored sneakers, ugly people are still waiting to reach universal acceptance.

“Once I saw all of these celebrities wearing those weird looking shoes, I thought maybe people would start giving me a shot,” said Norman Buck, a self described ugly person. “I even got myself a pair of bright yellow and bulky New Balances. People kept asking me where I got them, but no one wants to hang out with me.”

At press time, Buck stated he will not address his wonky eye, crooked nose, and receding hairline, as he is holding out hope they will come into fashion.

President Glotzbach Speaks In Tongues at Fireside Chat

By Tom Pahl

D-HALL -- In a daring display of leadership, President Philip Glotzbach of Skidmore College spoke in tongues during his Fireside Chat on Thursday. The fire was tinged purple, and live viewers reported visions of bloody and grotesque displays as Glotzbach's eyes shone with an ethereal light. One student, through tears, described the sight of something that felt halfway between an orgy and a massacre, with writhing flesh intermingling in ways unfathomable to the human mind.

As Glotzbach spoke, dogs began to howl all through the surrounding area, and nearby flock of crows was found dead. As Glotzbach spoke he wept tears of blood, and it was this reporter's understanding that he not only wept for himself, but also he wept for humanity and how they would never see the grander vision the Old Ones would bestow upon this bountiful blue and green jewel we call home.

Glotzbach claimed that "the age of man will be less than a blink of eye" compared to the new dawn that his masters promise to bring about, having cleansed the world of life in unholy fire. This new age will be heralded by the birth of a ram with two heads, followed by a rainstorm of blood and a new smoking policy for Skidmore College, which really caught this reporter's interest by storm. Who knows what grand new vision the Old Ones have for our smoking policy? Not to editorialize, but this reporter hopes that the new punishments will be much milder, as alluded to in the President's remark on imprisoning his enemies in the Hall of a Million Screams with Shaggothiplux, the Shapeless Devil Cow with Six Horns and Eleven Testicles. At press time, the President's jaw was slack, spittle running freely down his chin, intermingling with the blood of his tears and emitted a single solitary screech.

5 Signs Tonight's the Night for Cunnilingus

By Max LoSardo

5) The Ravens have Ascended into the North

Look outside your window, you may hear the signs of the birds hallowing in the night. But those aren't just any birds - they are but the Ravens. Screeching through the darkness, their sirens awake you from a cold sleep, and you are aware of the task at hand. You see their flight, as they make their way home, you think on yourself, and where you must go. But fret not for the departure of your black winged friends, because you, like them, are moving on to bigger and better things.

4) You Find Yourself Facing Three Dwarves

Where you may be going, you have reached an impasse. Three small men hold the answers to your quest, although you may not know the question. You want to step forward, but you dare not disrespect the gatekeepers that henceforth control your destiny. "Ubi is. Et quare?" They ask. "Quid tibi vis faciam? Exitum vitae pericula audes delectantur." "Im 'iens ut unum praestare magnam voluptatem." You answer. You don't know how, but the sounds of their native tongue flow from yours like the rivers of San Juan. And now it is almost time. Et iam tempus prope est.

3) An Oracle Comes To You in Need

You aren't used to this. He's the one who provides the prophecy, but now the tables have turned. You don't know what to do? I'm sorry sir, I can't help you, you say. But you know you can. Only you can bring the wise one back to his mystical ways when he is in this rare time of need. The oracle will not help you unless you do him this one favor. Bring us home, he says, bring us home. Is it time yet? You aren't sure.

2) A Plague Falls Upon Your Neighbors House

As you feast upon your grains and berries, the mortality of your beloved comes closer than you would ever suspect. Help us, they cry. We need food! It echoes throughout the village. But you can't help. The crops have died, for rain has made itself scarce over the last fortnight. You don't have enough to share, so all you can do is sit. Listening to the agony of your commune as slow and painful ends loom barring a miracle brought only upon by the Divine. And it will come. But there is only one thing you can do.

1) She says, "Hey, can you go down on me?"

What could this mean? You struggle to string the syllables together. What? I don't understand, you think. Things have been so clear until now. All of the signs were there. But now you have reached a language unknown to your frail being. And it is upon this question, that you are unsure if tonight is the night for Cunnilingus.

No-Smoke Policy in Effect After President Glotzbach Transitions from Cigarettes to Dip

By Adam Weinreb

CARRIAGE HOUSE - Sending shockwaves through the entire Skidmore College campus and greater Saratoga Springs area, President Glotzbach has transitioned from cigarettes to using dip.

“Why would anyone need to smoke? I stopped, and that means everyone else can and has to, too. I mean, if you really want smoke, come breathe in the fumes from my fireside chat and we can talk about getting you hooked on dip too,” President Glotzbach said in a statement to The Skidmo’ Daily. Students have criticised the measure, with one anonymous student saying, “Just because President Glotzbach switched to dip doesn’t mean we can all just switch to edibles. I mean, think of the calories!” Another anonymous student had similar concerns, saying “You can’t take away my right to smoke pot! I’m gonna hotbox Case Center in protest.” President Glotzbach responded to outrage by reminding Skidmore’s perpetually stoned students that marijuana was illegal before and after the policy change, and that this “isn’t fucking about them.” At press time, he then proceeded to shove a fat wad of tobacco under his lip and took a virgrous hit of his secret juul.

SGA Introduces Urine Sustainability Initiative

By Max Fleischman

CASE CENTER -- Attempting to curb water usage and increase efficiency, SGA has proposed the Yellow New Deal, informing students to pee In Skidmore’s sinks.

SGA is advising students to pee in any respective sink before immediately washing down that urine as you wash your hands. “Every flush of a toilet wastes 1.6 gallons of water.” Said SGA Secretary of the Interior Dylan Normus ‘19. “Peeing In Skidmore’s Sinks will use a fraction of that water. If you think only people with penises can pee In Skidmore’s Sinks, then you are sorely mistaken; Peeing In Skidmore’s Sinks is completely gender neutral. Just Google girls peeing in sinks. I do it all the time!”

In an aggressive and strategic ad campaign, Student Government has begun advertising the initiative with signs reading “You may know if it’s yellow let it mellow, now get ready for if you think, use the sink.”

The future of the bill remains uncertain, as local justonians and janitors have already begun a strike until the proposal is rejected.

Investigation Shows Alicia Keys' Last Name Not Actually 'Keys'

By Ethan Kleppner

STAPLES CENTER, LOS ANGELES— Resulting in an unexpected controversy, investigators have uncovered decades-old documents that reveal Grammy's Host and musician Alicia Keys' last name is not, in fact, Keys.

"It really breaks my heart to learn that she's been lying to us the whole time," one anonymous Skidmore student and Grammy viewer said. "I always thought it was such a nice coincidence that Alicia Keys' last name was 'Keys.' You know, like a piano. Because she plays the piano. Like, a lot."

In a shocking development, the same investigators also found that her husband Swizz Beatz has been fabricating his name as well. Protestors have called for charges of identity fraud and serious jail time.

However, their sons Egypt, 8, and Genesis, 4, are in the clear. "It appears that their children's names are real, although—might I add—pretty fucking weird," the FBI agent in charge of the case stated.

"It breaks my heart to see this kind of criminal activity among my friends in the music industry. Name fabrication and identity fraud are serious crimes and must be treated as such. I pray that the people I know as Alicia and Swizz learn the error of their ways and will be more honest and truthful people when this is all over," said five-time former Grammys host LL Cool JJ.

Freshman Hospitalized After Doing Whippits of Cherry Blossom Febreze

By Ian Maywar

SARATOGA HOSPITAL — Upending his plans for a fun Saturday night, Jeremy Banks '22 was hospitalized for doing whippits of Cherry Blossom Febreze.

Banks was forced to resort to Febreze after being trapped in the third floor of the library working on a last minute paper. Sam Meyers, a good friend of Jeremy, re-lived the moment it all went down, stating that Jeremy "hit that shit for like 20 seconds." He continued, saying "Yeah Jeremy was so worried he was gonna miss the 11:15 bus that he didn't think to ask us to save him a beer or something. So I guess he just resorted to whatever was near him." SCEMS also provided a statement to the Skidmo' Daily, calling it "a first."

At press time from his hospital bed, Jeremy made it known that he's going to stick to just alcohol and weed.

Ultimate Frisbee Team Sells Souls to Devil to Fund Spring Break Trip

by Clare McInerney

DAYTON APARTMENTS--After striking a deal with the devil, the Skidmore College Ultimate Frisbee Team is currently under investigation for selling their souls in exchange for money to fund their Spring Break trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

Inside sources say that the team's leadership board summoned The Devil to one of their on-campus apartments this past Sunday in order to make a trade. Upon his arrival, Satan himself was offered the souls of all 35 people attending the Myrtle Beach trip in exchange for the cost of the team's rental house and the gas to get there. To this offer, the Antichrist supposedly said, "Do I look like I'm made of money?" and knocked them down to half the cost of the house. They took the deal immediately.

"I mean, we basically had to. It's literally the best week of my life every year," reported one member of the leadership team upon being confronted by a concerned underclassman. "If Skidmore won't fund us, we're obviously going to need to find another way, whatever it takes, man. I literally would have let him sacrifice the First Years if it meant another week in Dirty Myrtle," another board member was heard confessing in Case Center Monday afternoon.

At press time, it was also revealed that the Prince of Darkness was not the team's only financial backing. The Student Government Association President has also been found to be a donor, putting him at risk of serious collusion efforts with his good friend Lucifer.

Student Microdoses Penis in Order to Test Homosexuality

By Ian Maywar

Taking advantage of college as a time for experimentation, John Baker '21 microdosed a cock late Friday night. After reading reports that microdosing dick could heighten his senses and creative output, Baker decided to call up a friend who had told him he could get him some shlong should he ever need some.

Baker engaged in roughly 10 centimeters of shvontz, easing himself into the experience.

"I was really nervous," Baker said in a statement to the Skidmo' Daily, "All my friends had done it before, and they were like, bro, you gotta try this shit, it's off the chain. And I didn't know what the hell I was doing, but they helped me through the experience."

At press time, Baker reported to have finished his dosage, and was tripping balls.

Skidmo Daily Horoscopes

Welcome to the Skidmo Horoscope! As we do every semester, we have offered our immortal souls to the devil in exchange for exact foreknowledge of the future. Though we will spend the rest of eternity in unimaginable torture, it was worth it to bring you your horoscopes!

Capricorn

Be more positive this month! And by that, I mean you are probably pregnant. Try to stay off the alcohol and sushi until you hit the drugstore.

Aquarius

The Skidmore plague is spreading around again. This month, in order to get the frog out of your throat, try putting a dick there instead! You got this!

Pisces

Your boyfriend is cheating on you. You're welcome.

Aries

You should go see the movie What Women Want so maybe you can finally learn how to give her an orgasm. Or at least learn how to not be a dick like you usually are.

Libra

You are perfect. Don't ever change (except the dirty socks you are probably wearing).

Scorpio

The stars are all out of sorts this month. Until Mercury is in retrograde, your aura is going to be messed up. Use that as an excuse to skip class this week. Your professors will understand.

Sagittarius

Your sign is represented by a hot centaur. Maybe you should head out to the horse barn this month and see where things go!

Taurus

Take the bull by the horns this month and do everything you've been putting off. Have you wanted to kill that annoying fuck in your class? Just do it! It's purge season for Taurus.

Gemini

You don't even deserve a horoscope, just try not to make everyone hate you like they usually do.

Cancer

You should call your doctor. Now.

Leo

Don't go to sleep this week. He's coming for you.

Virgo

You should seriously think through everything you do this month. If you don't have enough brainpower yourself, just stick an ice pick up your friend's nose, lobotomize them, and eat their brain for a quick pick me up and intelligence boost.
